

ENDURANCE KART

ADRIA'S 24 HOURS OF ITALY ALMOST SOLD OUT

6 weeks before Adria's event, 36 teams registered from 10 different countries

The 24 Hours Karting of Italy confirms to be a benchmark race in the Endurance world, event organised and promoted by CRG, scheduled on the prestigious Adria's International circuit on March 30th-31st.

The event is just a month away, but there are only 4 places available left. Most of the strongest Italian teams will take the field, as the Red Racing team, winner of CRG's World Contest, and Miout, winner of the 2018 Endurance Kart Cup, besides many foreigner teams. Among the most represented countries, we have China with 3 teams, then Romania, Czech Republic, Germany, Spain, Ecuador, Bermuda, France and Ukraine.

The show and competition level will be very high, so as the organization the CRG is setting in close collaboration with the Adria raceway. As usual, the strong points of the race will be the technical single-management by CRG, that will provide each team with brand new Centurion 390cc karts by lottery and the technical assistance will be handled by the factory's racing team.

But the Adria circuit also contributes in making this event unique, thanks to the masonry boxes' comfort, hotel rooms facing the starting line, the race direction room with over 20 cameras and the best European lighting system.

In the end, in the 2019 edition, the media plan foreseen by CRG had a great appeal, as for the first time in the history of Endurance races, there will be a 26 hours live streaming: from the drivers parade before the start, until the prize-giving ceremony. Images will be broadcasted on the CRG's website and social channels, so that each driver can share and spread them in their countries. The production will include interviews to the protagonists and continuous updates of the ranking.

The Regulation foresees 2 categories (PRO and SILVER) and leaves the teams free to make their strategies only having to respect the rule of minimum driver changes: 25 for "Pro" teams and 30 for "Silver" teams.
