ALEX IRLANDO RETURNS IN KZ2 IN SARNO

After the race in OK in Muro Leccese, Alex Irlando makes his return with shifterkarts in Sarno for the last round of the WSK Super Master Series.

After a round on his home soil, Alex Irlando is ready to fight in KZ2 on his favourite track: the Circuito Internazionale Napoli in Sarno. Last time Alex raced in the shadow of Vesuvius in December, he won the Trofeo Ayrton Senna at his debut with BirelART.

"Sarno in my second home and I simply love this track! Here I won my first Italian Championship back in the 2008 and last year I fought against Marco Ardigò and Paolo De Conto for the WSK Super Master Series crown, but then I arrived second. It's a very important race because in June we'll have the second and last round of the CIK-FIA KZ European Championship and next week there will be the first round of the WSK European Series. We need to find the best set-up for the chassis as soon as possible to compete against the other drivers. Can't wait to hit the track!"

Here is the program of the weekend.
